VOLUME 32, No. 50

SIERRA MADRE, COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1938

Council Sets Tax Rate At $2.29

Adopts Ordinance Reducing Levy Six Cents Under That Of Last Year

An ordinance fixing the city's tax rate at $2.29 for the current fiscal year was adopted at a meeting of the city council Tuesday night, following its amendment increasing the levy assessed against Canyon Park properties to anticipate delinquencies there but not affecting other sections of the city. This adjustment affecting the four canyon zones was made to help carry through the Canyon's Mattoon act bond liquidation.

A reduction of six cents in the tax rate under that of last year calls for $1.00 against each $100 of assessed valuation for the city's general fund; 16c for maintenance of the public library and $1.13 to meet sinking fund and interest requirements of outstanding bond issues.

Six cents below the rate of last year the reduction is one cent below the new tax rate in Glendora where the rate was reduced seven cents under last year's figures. These are the two outstanding tax reductions in San Gabriel Valley. In several cities, notably Ontario, the tax rate has been increased.

The tax ordinance and the resolution apportioning the various expenditures for the fiscal year will be found in full on pages 2 and 7 of this issue of THE NEWS.

The county supervisors Wednesday fixed the county tax rate at $1.51 per $100 of assessed valuation, an increase of nine cents over that of last year. A separate levy of 21 cents was set for the flood control district, an increase of two cents above that of last year, so that Sierra Madren are sure now that their taxes for all purposes other than schools will be $5.01. Though the school tax has been fixed for surrounding communities, county officials have not announced the rate to be assessed here.

The city council reconsidered its decision to cancel insurance on bonds held to protect city deposits and renewed the bond insurance amounting to $120 a year.

City Is Represented At Planner's Meet In Old Mexico

Sierra Madre was represented at the international convention of city planning and housing officials held in Mexico City from August 13 to 20. Robert Wright, chairman of the city planning commission, and Mrs. Wright, attended all the sessions. Kenneth Sampson, zoning engineer of the regional planning commission who has been advising the local commission in preparation of the new zoning ordinance, traveled with the Wrights, who lived in Mexico for many years. The convention sessions were held in the Palacio de Belle Artes, formerly the National Theatre, said to be one of the world's most beautiful structures.

"No one who attended the convention could fail to get a lot out of it," said Mr. Wright on his return. Huge water colors of projected highway, city planning and housing projects about to be undertaken throughout Mexico were surprisingly modern and of particular interest to American delegates, though some of them on their first visit to the republic passed up many sessions to take in the bull fights.

First Pledge Of Young Racers Here Is Safe Driving On The Highway; Members Use Insignia For Identification

The Sierra Madre Night-Flyers may be composed of the fastest cars and fastest drivers in the city—but the speed is confined to the racing right-of-way, and the organization's members stand pledged to the utmost in traffic precaution and safety measures.

This fact was stressed at a meeting of the Flyers group Wednesday night at the home of Wayne Morrison, 267 North Baldwin avenue, where they continued their study of carburetion, r.p.m., piston displacement and other mechanical details.

This club strictly forbids racing on the highway but members build up their cars to time on a dry lake bed that is supervised by the Southern California Timing Association. In this way many new ideas are worked out that are later used in the automotive industry. The local club is one of 30 belonging to the S. C. T. A., which has rules stricter than the police courts in regard to speeding and reckless driving. If one of the members receives a ticket for reckless driving he is dropped from the club and the club is fined by the association. Members cooperate with the police, but would like

Popular Pair Plan Wedding In Yuma

Miss Dorothy Tyree, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Tyree, 140 South Hermosa, and Thomas Morrow of Azusa, plan to be married in Yuma, Arizona, Saturday. Accompanying them on their trip to the Arizona Gretna Green will be Miss Eunice Albright and William Hansen, both of Sierra Madre. The young folks are popular here and in the younger set of the valley cities.

City Warms To Kortkamp Concert

Farewell Testimonial To Young Artist Arouses Keen Interest

News of the impending departure of Miss Moreland Kortkamp for advanced piano study in New York City has aroused keen interest in the benefit concert to be given in the Sierra Madre school auditorium on Friday, September 16. Many friends have volunteered to help make this farewell event a great success. Miss Kortkamp has given freely of her time and talent for many organizations, members of which will doubtless desire to show their appreciation in a practical way.

Progress of Miss Kortkamp from young girlhood to the status of a concert artist has been watched with pride by Sierra Madre folk. Teachers and critics agree that it is rare to find such unusual talent together with such well rounded intellectual development. Throughout her junior high and junior college career she not only kept up her musical activity but graduated as an "all A" student with high scholastic honors.

In her piano work Miss Kortkamp has shown remarkable versatility. She has developed a beautiful tone and fine technique, with splendid interpretative ability. She is also an unusually fine accompanist. With great charm of personality she gets her musical message across the footlights as few pianists are able to do.

For her farewell concert Miss Kortkamp has arranged a program which will not only appeal to trained musicians but to the general public. She will be assisted by Glenard Burris, baritone, who will sing a group of songs, with accompaniment by Harlow Mills. The latter will also play the second piano for Miss Kortkamp's rendition of the Schumann Concerto.

Tickets for the concert may be obtained at Hartman's drug store, the Macauley Music Co., in Pasadena, or from friends.

McAdoo Vote Here Shock To Friends

President's Choice Ran 3rd In Sierra Madre— Few Surprises In Primary

Unless it was the pitifully small vote cast for the once mighty McAdoo in the Democratic senatorial race, or the surprisingly large vote cast for the unknown Carl Kegley as a candidate for attorney general in the same party's primary, there were practically no surprises in Tuesday's balloting in Sierra Madre. Less than half the qualified electors took the trouble to go to the polls at the close of a listless campaign.

Kegley, smart enough to figure that the promise of something for nothing would attract a huge vote and with no other claim to fame or office, built his campaign wholly on the $30 a week proposition. His vote here and elsewhere in the state is taken to give a pretty good indication of the number of believers in the $30 plan.

Strongly figured by his local adherents to carry this city, because of President Roosevelt's strong endorsement, McAdoo ran third. Merriam, Republican, for Governor, and Olson, Democrat, were expected to carry the city and did. Carl Hinshaw's smashing vote for the Republican Congressional nomination was also expected, and was the majority the city gave T. Fenton Knight as a candidate for the Republican assembly nomination.

Though defeated in the district, T. A. Reynolds, Sierra Madre candidate for the Democratic Assembly nomination, carried his home town by a small majority over Preston, his only opponent. Judge John A. H. Sturgeon, Monrovia township justice of the peace who was re-elected at the primary, carried the city easily. Though returns were eagerly awaited here where Craig McLaughlin was a candidate for the Democratic County Central Committee and Lester K. Layton for the Republican Committee, nothing like complete returns of the committee contests had been tabulated by the registrar of voters late last night.

Returns of the election in the city by precincts for the more important offices and the city's total vote for other offices will be found in adjoining columns.

Revise Zone Map To Meet Protests

Eighty-Five Per Cent Of City's Area Now Reserved For Single Family Homes

Nearly 85 per cent of Sierra Madre's habitable area is zoned for single family residences under a revision of the master plan on which the city's new zoning ordinance is being prepared.

The area originally zoned for duplex and multiple family dwellings was greatly reduced at a meeting of the planning commission Monday evening during which the commission considered various protests against classification of properties in many sections.

Studies For 7th Graders Agreed On

City's Beautiful School Slicked Like New To Welcome Pupils

Workmen have been busy at the Sierra Madre grammar school putting on final touches of paint and wax preparatory to the opening of school Monday, September 12. All inside walls have been washed, paint has been retouched, floors waxed to perfection, and the trim on the outside of the building has been repainted.

It is impossible to predict enrollment figures at this time, Miss Elizabeth Steinberger, principal, stated, but with many new faces in the city and a large number of smaller children who will enter school for the first time, a high registration is expected. Boys and girls who have spent the summer at beaches and in the mountains will have less than two months of school work here before they have another vacation—Armistice day, which falls on Friday, November 11. This will make a three day holiday.

The seventh graders will begin studies practically the same as those offered at Woodrow Wilson. The course of instruction will include arithmetic, English, history, social studies, art, music, physical education, with home-making for the girls and manual making for the boys and manual

Don't Be Sorry

If you were one of the citizens who failed to register, picked up a little interest in the primary campaign just before it ended with Tuesday's election and were sorry you couldn't vote, don't be caught again. You can qualify for the all-important November election by registering now. But don't procrastinate again. You can register at the city hall any time between now and September 29. But that is the deadline.

Don't be sorry again.

Council Decides To Issue Business License For Wistaria Gardens

Gives Notice Controversy Will Be Ended At Meeting September 13

Notice has been given that at its meeting on Tuesday, September 13, the city council will cause a business license to be issued to Mrs. Ida Lawless for operation of a botanical garden and tea room at Wistaria Vine Gardens. At the council's direction City Clerk Waverly E. Pratt has notified Mrs. Lawless and neighbors whose properties adjoin or are close by the Gardens, and who have vigorously opposed year around operation of the Gardens. Mr. Pratt's letter contained copies of an opinion by City Attorney Walter F. Dunn advising the council that it is "under legal compulsion" to issue the license.

Whereas it once appeared that Mrs. Lawless might have to resort to mandamus proceedings to secure a license, legal action by the neighbors would now be necessary to prevent operation of the Gardens as now conducted.

In his opinion Mr. Dunn stresses the fact that the issuance of a business license to the Gardens has no relation to any action the planning commission and the council may take in the zoning ordinance now in course of preparation. In this connection attorneys and zoning experts have advised that it will be impossible to draft a zoning ordinance that would outlaw any business established in any area prior to adoption of the zoning ordinance. Mr. Dunn's opinion to this effect has been concurred in by Kenneth Sampson, zoning engineer of the regional planning commission, and other authorities.

Mr. Dunn's opinion advising the council it is obliged to issue the business license has been concurred in by F. D. R. Moore and a dozen other attorneys who stand high in their profession. An application for a license was filed by Mrs. Lawless several months ago. Action on it has been twice postponed for thirty-day periods by the council. Mr. Pratt's letter announcing that the license is now to be issued says the council is unanimous in its decision. Mr. Dunn's opinion, which was enclosed with Mr. Pratt's letter, follows:

"In answer to your question as to the necessity of issuing a license to Mrs. W. J. Lawless for the operation of a tea room or cafe upon her property in Sierra Madre known as the Wistaria Vine, will state that in my opinion the City Council of the City of Sierra Madre is under legal compulsion to issue such license. It is my understanding that Mrs. Lawless has applied for a license to operate a Tea Room or Cafe upon the above property as required by Section 34 of Ordinance 239 of the City of Sierra Madre, commonly known as the Business License Ordinance. Section 34 of said Ordinance reads as follows: 'Licenses on all Business not otherwise Specified:'

"For every person, firm or corporation conducting or carrying on any business of any kind whatever not hereinbefore designated, or conducting or carrying on any business in any way or place where goods, wares or merchandise of any kind, nature or description are sold, $12.00 per annum.

"An examination of said Ordinance No. 239 discloses that this ordinance is one for revenue. With but few exceptions it is not regulatory in its scope. "In view of the broad language of said Section 34, in my opinion it is incumbent upon Mrs. Lawless to secure the license therein provided, paying the sum of $12.00 per annum therefor.

"If under the terms of said ordinance Mrs. Lawless must secure such license, then there is the corresponding duty upon the Council to issue same.

"Said ordinance, not containing any regulatory provisions, as to the conduct of a business such as is operated by Mrs. Lawless upon her property, does not provide for a permit as a prerequisite to the issuance of the required license, nor does it set forth any rules or regulations for the operation of such business. In such a case the council is not called upon to exercise any discretion in the matter.

"The courts have continually held that 'when an ordinance imposes upon a body the plain duty of granting a license upon ascertaining that the conditions precedent to the performance of such duty exist, the refusal of a licensee in such a case, is an abuse of power rather than the exercise of discretion, which may be remedied by mandamus.' 16 Cal. Jur. 275.

"It seems to me that this matter has been unduly confused because of the apparent idea that if a license in this case is denied or refused, same will have some relation to whether or not the planning commission and the council in the proposed 'zoning ordinance' must provide for the continuance of such business or prevent further operation thereof.

"In my opinion there is no connection between the matter of granting or refusing a license under said Ordinance No. 239 and the power of the City Council to enact a 'zoning ordinance' which will either provide for the continuance of any business operated by Mrs. Lawless at the Wistaria Vine or prohibit same.

"In passing it might be well to

Cinderella Frocks

Shirley Temple Frocks

Your small daughter may not have Shirley's curls and dimples, but she can pretend she's "Little Miss Broadway" herself, in one of these new frocks! She'll love them for their fine fabrics, and bright coloring... and you'll second her choice because they're thoughtfully priced, and take to repeated tubbings. Look for the Shirley Temple photographic tag and Cinderella Coach label in each frock.

"LITTLE MISS BROADWAY": Fine quality Ribstone, lavishly applied, zip front. Smart Fall shades. SHIRLEY TEMPLE style. Sizes 3 to 12.

By Helen Lovejoy

DISTRICT officers for the coming year were elected at a meeting in Monrovia Monday evening with Mesdames W. H. Smith, C. Hill, A. H. Embree, and G. R. Lovejoy representing our unit. Mrs. Viola Forsythe was chosen unanimously for president, while Katherine Seaman won out for vice-president. Mrs. Glenn Taylor was appointed secretary. Other appointments will appear in THE NEWS as soon as they are made.

A party of delegates and alternates will go to Santa Monica on Wednesday, September 14th in order to register for the State convention, Mrs. Smith announced today.

Past-presidents called "The Hearts of 37" met at the beach home of Edna Heart in Hermosa and enjoyed a day of leisure and a banquet. Capsule pals were passing out surprises and a fine time was had.

The unit wishes to thank all those attending our installation ceremony and dinner.

Thanks to Mr. Goshorn who has continued through the entire year to publicize our activities and boost our projects. He is held in very high esteem by our entire membership. His staff is most cooperative, and to them we also extend kindest wishes.

SAW MANY WONDERS IN FIVE WEEKS TRIP

Mrs. A. E. Pulling of 382 West Montecito avenue, accompanied by Miss Helen Wones, Miss Addie Pulling and the Misses Kathleen and Mary Pulling, returned Thursday from a five weeks' vacation in the east. While away Mrs. Pulling and Miss Kathleen visited in Chicago and Cleveland where they remained with relatives, while the rest of the party visited in Wisconsin. The northern route was chosen for the return trip and the group enjoyed a few days at the Waterton Lakes in Canada, and in Glacier National Park, and all were delighted with the many beauties of the Columbia and Redwood Highways.

MONROVIA MASONS TO PLAY HOST AGAIN

Monrovia Masons are storing away charcoal for Friday, September 9, when their annual beefsteak feed will be held on the grounds of the Monrovia Masonic Temple. Introduction of grand lodge officers, who will be guests of honor, vaudeville and music will comprise the evening's entertainment.

Held annually on the Friday after Labor Day, the event serves as a reunion for members of various Masonic lodges in Southern California.

Former Visitor To This City Is Buried At Arlington

Robert Rinhart, cousin of Mrs. Josephine E. Marr, who will be remembered by older residents of Sierra Madre for his visits to this city in former years, was accorded a Military funeral service and burial in Arlington Cemetery, Washington D.C., last Wednesday following his death in El Paso, Texas. Mr. Rinhart was one of the first citizens of Arizona to join Theodore Roosevelt's Rough Riders. In later years he has been active as manager of the Union Central Life Insurance Company of El Paso, Texas.

YOUR HOME AND MINE
BY ANNE WILSON

FIRE FLAME

By One of the Boys

OUR citizens can feel easy about their fire protection insofar as the fire hose is concerned; its in good condition. All the hose that is on the Pierce Arrow truck was stretched out along the street Friday and tested from the high pressure fire plug at the head of Mt. Trail avenue. This plug carries a very high pressure without using a pump and when one man gets at the end of a nozzle, he knows he has something.

Our old friend and fellow hose-man Louie Karger was assigned to the end of the hose and when the pressure was turned on he held tight. He did a dance that none of Bob Ward's swing dance students could ever imitate. Just when Louie got into the hay-mow scuffle of the barn dance, his foot caught in the hose. Then it was that Marion Hayes came to his rescue and then it was that these two famous firemen looked like Bossy Heifer and Bossy Shorthorn bringing home the milk.

It will not be long until those who are going to the firemen's convention will be packing their grips and being real nice to their wives. Some fine evening soon, we can expect to see some of our heroes dressed in highly colored outfits and standing in front of the fire station, waiting for the transportation to Santa Barbara.

Fried chicken dinners are fine, of course, but it is a shame that there always seem to be three or four pieces left over which are not enough to cream, not enough for salad, not enough, apparently, for anything except to be gobbled cold by some hungry family "refrigerator prowler."

Here is where putting two and two together comes in. Hot biscuits and chicken have long been partners. Use the left-over chicken as a filling for biscuits. Doesn't that sound good? It is.

Cut the chicken in small pieces to make one cupful. Use 1/2 cup thick chicken gravy or well seasoned cream sauce. Mix chicken and gravy with 1 hard cooked egg, chopped fine, 1 teaspoon grated onion and 2 table-spoons sliced ripe olives. Season with salt and pepper.

LABOR'S DAY

Down the main streets of America, Labor's day, millions strong, will march on Monday. This is truly not Labor Day, but Labor's Day, the occasion on which we salute the working-man and working-woman as they stride to martial music, in review before the eyes of a nation.

The skill, the energy, and the talent, of these countless breadwinners are the tools which have helped carry for America her place as foremost among the world's countries in productivity and wealth.

This nation's tribute to Labor can only be tempered with regret that this year finds no healing of the breach which a year ago had already split Labor's house asunder. The rivalry between its factions is just as keen, the bitterness of its powerful leaders has only deepened, and the future holds the promise of a widespread struggle as those who are hungry after still more power precipitate needless clashes, while those who are hungry after bread—or a job—stand unhappily and needlessly idle.

If Labor and Industry cannot put their houses in order, then the people will, for their welfare is the public's concern. California recognizes that truth and through its employment relations measure, to be acted on in November, proposes that all shall recognize Labor's right to bargain collectively, that Labor and employers shall be free to freedom from needless quarreling and violence, and that the privileges and obligations of all parties be set forth and upheld by state law.

As Labor marches this day, certainly progress marches too, and the steps toward peace and sanity in labor relations, move onward toward a happier era for America and her 50 million breadwinners!

DESERVED PRAISE

Deserved praise is being showered on Sierra Madre's school board for its decision to establish a seventh grade in the grammar school with the possibility that an eighth grade will follow a year later. The directors adopted an eminently fair method of determining whether the additional grade was desirable, for after all parents of the pupils are best able to say whether their children shall remain in the home school for another year, or be sent off to the new order and the school trustees will have the satisfaction of knowing that they have done their full duty to the public by following the wishes of those most concerned.

Many parents object to sending children of seventh and eighth grade away from the home in the morning, particularly the former. A year or so later the bus trip is not objectionable and they may avail themselves of any advantages offered at Pasadena junior high schools over the course it will be possible to give here. That there are some advantages, all things considered, there can be no dispute. But under the present arrangement parents may have their choice of sending their offspring to Wilson Junior High, or having them remain here for at least another year.

Absence of seventh and eighth grades have prevented many desirable families from buying or building homes here and has caused many other families to leave when their children have completed the course heretofore provided. They moved to communities where additional grades were available. This obstacle to the city's growth has now been removed.

ALL IN THE SAME BOAT

The...
Watch Tower

By Perley Poore Sheehan

WE found that in our thought we'd been paraphrasing Shelley: "My soul is an enchanted boat—Which like a sleeping swan doth float—Upon the silver waves of thy sweet singing." Remember? We didn't, exactly, until we'd looked it up. Shelley's Prometheus Unbound. We'd been listening to Orline Burrow. The "sweet singing" had been really the music of her violin. In a quartet with three gifted boys—a second violin, viola, cello. Under the stars. With a big, big audience; and every one as still as the breathless trees who closed us in. This was in Oskar Seeling's Garden Theatre—up there where our Sierra Madre hills begin.

Those trees—standing there so ghostly noble in the dark—seemed to be listening too. Like well-bred children at the knees of their old mountain grandmother. Getting more out of that Debussy number, perhaps, than some of us human listeners did—even eating now and then some sung to fledgling trees by winds, and wolves, and elementals. For, on the whole, Debussy had an ear for melodies and harmonies like that—Nature's overtones—musical nature-mystic that he was, and is; Kapellmeister of the Bohemian genius whom America so knows and loves. Miss Burrow and her companions played one of his finest works; with such tender brilliance, so perfectly, that, honestly, we were glad that he was dead—so that he could be there, spiritually, to hear it. And not, say, physically, in Prague—at this present hour.

RECALLING Milton's high-born intuition in his Paradise Lost. That not just Dvorak alone might be there. Millions! Listen. "Millions of spiritual creatures walk the earth—Unseen, both when we wake, and when we sleep." Thus Milton. Like the assurance in that little hymn—which stops us just a little bit, with a touch of wonder, each time we hear it. Mark the third and fourth lines:

Go forward, Christian soldier,
Fear not the secret foe;
Far more o'er thee are watching
Than human eyes can know.

IN THIS connection may we strike a more personal note? Personal only as to the time and place of the experience; otherwise universal, appertaining to all. We ourselves were all at the so-called Dead—so the thought breathed over us as we sat there listening to Miss Burrow's lovely music. We were Milton's "Unseen" now, gathered here in the shadows. They were the so-called Living up there on the lighted stage. Yet they and we were the same. Equally alive. Happy they; happy we. Blessed the music-makers; blessed all they that beautify our world or are grateful for its beauty—world of the unseen millions as well as the world of those, the Quick, who at present cannot see us, the so-called Dead.

THE thought then took on extension—rolling up, like a luminous faint cloud, on a breeze of song. "And we've all of us," a voice was telling us, "changed places so often, in this infinite composition of our Lord, that when the call comes—whichsoever it be, whether to come up on the lighted stage or to leave it—to be born or to die—the occasion should mean no more to any of us than a smile. With, perhaps, a polite ripple of applause..." There was applause. It grew louder. We were helping to make it louder, we discovered. At the completion of a Dvorak movement. Of which we hadn't missed a note. Although we'd heard, most positively, that voice.

SO THAT music may be, after all, what poets and seers have so often called it, a form of speech—the speech of angels, as Carlyle said. And are we not all angels? Some part of us at least. Hence this love for a universal language. What Emerson calls "that shudder of awe and delight with which the individual soul always mingles with the universal soul." That's music. As we read in Crowest's Life of Beethoven: "Mere music" and "harmony" were nothing to the mind of Beethoven. Music must be a language, a language of those grand things which overflowed his heart." Perhaps it was to this angelic speech deaf Beethoven referred when, dying, he said: "I shall hear—in heaven."

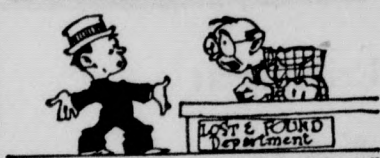

ANOTHER night we returned to the Seeling garden. And there heard that young genius, Dorothy Marie Wade, Violinist. Trained by Mr. Seeling, quintessentially, we thought. But with a musical wisdom such as young Beethoven himself might have had. A wisdom that could have grown only through an infinity of lives—on earth as it is in heaven. Making us think of what the Master said about a treasure unapproachable by thieves, incorruptible by moths. Dorothy Marie Wade. Fourteen. Wholly soul was at work building up that endowment? Anyway, you also speak the language of the angels.

Case and Comment

By Charles B. Showalter

(Editor's Note: The opinions expressed herein are those of Mr. Showalter and do not necessarily reflect the attitude or opinions of THE NEWS.)

RECENT news dispatches, carried the story of a female citizen of Los Angeles county who, while on the relief rolls, sported a husband on a large salary and between them, owned and operated a yacht.

Also the story of the death of an elderly woman in an eastern city who had been some years on relief. Search of her squalid apartment disclosed several thousands of dollars in cash and a bank book with deposits of two thousand dollars.

These stories, only typical of thousands that could be enumerated, reveal the vicious weakness of the relief system, and demonstrate the appalling depths to which American character has descended under the "something for nothing" policy of the New Deal. The entire system of relief as it is administered, is a crime against decent society. No one in his right mind would deny help to the deserving who are actually in need. It is the bums, the moochers, the worthless who should be taken off the taxpayer's backs. If the relief rolls were purged in this manner, the financial burden could be reduced more than half. But of course that would never do, because it would reduce the voting strength in like proportion.

An investigation of the entire relief system by an unprejudiced commission would reveal a lot of interesting material.

It would show that those whom we knew a few years ago as bums, hoboes, Weary-Willies I.W.W.s, those who never did work and never will, are on the lists.

It would show that the system encourages the mendicant, promotes dependency, invites the idle and the shiftless, and coddles dishonesty. It would show that the entire system is profligate, viciously wasteful and almost unbelievably corrupt.

It is operated primarily for political purposes and not to relieve the distressed. We have known instances where persons were invited and urged to apply for relief, being at the same time, of course, told how they must register and vote.

If the relief administrators do not know who are the moochers on their lists they are just plain dumb and unfit for the positions they hold. If they do know them, then they are conniving at a felony and belong in the penitentiary.

Certain it is that if the relief problem is not solved soon, and solved honestly and decently, the result is going to be an explosion that will blow the American government and people to scattered bits. The present rate of expenditure cannot continue another two years without a complete collapse of Federal credit. Then there will be such a crash as to make the present and former depressions look like peaks of prosperity. The American people who are forced to pay the bills must be aroused to the danger of the present trend.

Criticism that is not constructive is just plain fault-finding. So as the alternative which circumstances will finally force us to adopt, we suggest the remedy—decentralize relief. Return the administration to the municipalities and communities to be administered by charity organizations, community chests or Red Cross units. Let there be bipartisan boards of control, with Federal aid allocated according to population and industrial conditions and proved actual need.

Divorce relief from politics completely. If it can be done no other way, hold the ballot from the reliever during his time on the rolls. Or make all who apply for relief ineligible to vote or hold office.

The man rightfully now on relief has the most to gain in any effort to clean up the present vicious system. For certain it is—just as certain as death and taxes—that the system as we now have it is bound to bust. And when the golden stream dries up at its source, as it inevitably must, those who have lost the will to work and the skill to work, will find themselves in dire circumstances indeed.

The New Deal doctrine that the government owes every man a living is wholly responsible for the present mess, and also for all the other fantastic and impossible Utopian schemes to get something for nothing. Mr. Roosevelt goes out of his way to condemn California's 30 dollar a week retirement scheme, which is ill-considered when we reflect that it is only one more fool idea begotten of his own social and political insanity—but who knows what will be proposed next.

TRAVELER TO TELL OF
"GLORY OF THE SUN"

Mrs. Marie Wilkes, prominent lecturer and native of South Africa, who will be the guest speaker at the Sunday night supper program at the Wistaria Vine Gardens, September 11th, has chosen for her subject "The Blue Flowers of South Africa," and will speak particularly of a new plant which has recently been introduced in Southern California, and is known as "Glory of the Sun."

They are planning in Washington to extend the Social Security Act to domestic servants and farm help (now specifically exempt) when Congress reconvenes—and to make the employers do the book-keeping by the stamp method. The plan is to supply each domestic servant or farm worker with a card or book. The employer (housewife or farmer) must buy stamps equal in value to the social security taxes and stick them on the cards. When filled, the cards or books will be sent to Washington.

The top speed of the 1929 airplane was only about 130 miles per hour compared with the 1938 average speed of 150 miles per hour.

A method of preventing ice formation on airplanes by use of electrical current is passed has been perfected and will be in operation on transport planes within 30 days.

The reviving of old oil fields has been perfected by petroleum engineers through research. It is now believed at least 20 per cent more oil can be recovered from fields supposedly exhausted.

Ninety per cent of the freight traffic of this country is handled in regularly scheduled freight trains that move on definite schedules, the same as passenger trains.

A survey just completed by the American Federation of Investors reveals that 150 industrial corporations in the United States, employing 3,171,250 persons, paid taxes totaling $1,631,000,000 last year—an increase of almost a billion dollars in five years (the 1932 tax burden of the same 150 corporations was $681,648,286).

The 1937 tax payment represented an average of $514 paid for each employee and $291 for every common stockholder. One company, employing more than 5000 workers, paid a tax equaling $4,580 for each of its employees.

A valuation of $990,403.60 has been placed on public utility property throughout California for assessment purposes this year.

One of those minor inventions that seems destined to make millions for its discoverer has just appeared in New York. Fashioned from tobacco scraps, the new substance is designed as a wrapping for cigarettes, and may, in the words of the inventor "make white paper cigarettes as obsolete as silent movies."

From down under the Southern Cross comes the latest shot in the old war of the feminists against the gallant sex. Australia's only woman mayor, Mrs. Lillian Fowler, provides the ammunition. Men, says she, are muddlers! In fact, they're such master muddlers that practically everything wrong with the world is due either to man's carelessness or to his stupidity.

Lake Needles, a new body of water rapidly forming back of Parker dam on the Colorado river and rival of Lake Mead back of Hoover dam, has reached the 30-mile mark from the dam and is already within 25 miles of Needles. Colorado river now has four definite checks at Boulder, Parker, Imperial and Laguna dams.

For more than reasons of trade, Uncle Sam heralds with a fanfare and flourish, the opening of his luxury line service to the East Coast of South America this week. With the formal inauguration of this line on September 1, the United States serves a gentle, but no less obvious, notice to certain European powers that what President Monroe told an American Congress in 1823 is what America firmly adheres to in 1938: that the South American continent shall never be a feeding-ground for land-hungry, poverty-stricken European nations. But in 1938, as in 1823, a few continental ambitions leading them to stake out claims in South America with people and propaganda. Even the coldly factual U. S. Army heads today believe American troops are more apt to see foreign action, if at all, on South America's soil than on Europe's. The government's $10,000,000 luxury line has its commercial values, but it's the strategic ones that make its inauguration significant.

No propositions relative to the control and regulation of liquor in California will appear on the ballot at the November election. A half-dozen initiative petitions designed to change the liquor act were circulated in various parts of the state but failed to qualify. This will be the first state election since repeal of prohibition that the people have not been called upon to vote on one or more booze propositions.

There's no place like home to native Californians. Recently completed Chamber of Commerce reports tell us that of native-born Californians, all but 8.3

are living in this State! But their enthusiasm is naturally shared by so many others that the native sons and daughters are a minority. Only 44 per cent of San Francisco's population is native-born, and the proportion in Los Angeles is only 20 per cent. All this indicates that to natives of other states there's no place like California.

It is estimated that government—state and national—will levy taxes to the tune of $18,500,000,000 this year. Just one-ninth of that sum will be raised through income taxes. The gigantic balance will be raised through indirect taxes which represent part of the cost of a pair of shoes, a ticket to a show, rent, groceries and every other necessity and luxury of life. The great bulk of indirect taxes are paid by persons of small and moderate means. A man with a thousand dollars a year eats as much as a man with fifty thousand. And the hidden tax burden is obviously of infinitely greater importance to him. Here is the answer to those who think the tax problem is a wealthy man's problem, which doesn't touch the poor. There isn't a man, woman or child in this country who doesn't pay taxes—and heavy taxes to boot. And the worst sufferer from extravagant government is that ordinary citizen who thinks he is tax-free because he pays no direct levies.

More than 50 per cent of the cars exhibited at a recent automobile show in Buenos Aires, Argentina, bore the imprint "Made in the U.S.A."

Conference Today
To Consider Gas
Company's Service

City Attorney Walter Dunn has been directed by the city council to attend a conference today with city attorneys of the community served by Southern Counties Gas Company, company officials and the California Railroad Commission concerning the rates and service of the gas company.

The conference will be held before Commissioner Wakefield in the Commission's courtroom, in the state building, Los Angeles, for the specific purpose of affording changes in the natural gas rates, rules and regulations.

McGraw PHOTOGRAPH
AWARDED A PRIZE

For his photograph, "Sand Dunes, Death Valley," Richard F. McGraw of North Hermosa avenue, well-known Sierra Madre photographer, won the third award in the advanced class offered by "Camera Craft," a photographic magazine published in San Francisco. The picture appears in the September issue of the magazine. In June Mr. McGraw exhibited a group of photographic studies featuring California landscapes at the A. J. Dewey workshop. These studies were also exhibited in Middle West cities.

SIFTING OF BRIDGES CHARGES
HELD IMPORTANT TO STATE

By RALPH H. TAYLOR
(Executive Secretary, Agricultural Council of California)

CALIFORNIA, which has suffered losses running into many millions of dollars, due to waterfloods, alien fire-brand, Harry Bridges, has become clearly evident during the hearings in Washington. If Harry Bridges has been the alien fire-brand, and if Bridges, the alien, is also a Communist, his deportation should be carried out without delay.

If Bridges is not a Communist, then he certainly should welcome a chance to clear himself, rather than to fall back on the aid and comfort of un-American officials in the employ of the Labor Department, the Immigration Department, or any other department.

Bridges, when he was faced with the accusations lodged against him in Washington, is quoted as denying that he is a Communist. But he added: "Sure, I sympathize with plenty that the Communist Party advocates."

That answer, coupled with Mr. Bridges' record, is hardly reassuring. If Mr. Bridges is here just to stir up trouble, it might be well to send him back to the country of his nativity.

Hard Swinging Polo
At Riviera Sunday

Another fast polo program is slated for Sunday afternoon at the famed Riviera Olympic turf when the colorful "Tom Red" Guy leads his Hollywood squad against a picked Riviera four.

Tim Holt, who is fast becoming a star on the screen, is one of the best poloists in this section. He is noted for his hard riding and long hitting. He will be ably supported by Spencer Tracy, who always turns in a good game.

Long Beach malletmen are scheduled to play against the Rangers led by Jimmie Gleason in the first men's match which starts at 2 o'clock. Equestrian jumping events are to be held between polo matches.

STUDENT FLIES HOME;
SURPRISES PARENTS

A delightful surprise for the Ben Solnit family of 326 Adams avenue was the arrival of their son Albert, who flew from Berkeley where he is a pre-medical student at the University of California, to be with his family for a birthday celebration.

What A Girl Sees Ramblin' 'Round

HAVE you noticed the sick appearance of pepper trees throughout the city and palm trees gracing Sierra Madre Blvd. Dead fronds no longer hang dejectedly like tired hands. The palms have been barbed to within an inch of their lives by city employees. A long steel knife-like blade with an edge sharp as a razor makes quick work of the limp branches and in an incredibly short time the trees are trim as can be. After a summer spent in slacks and sports clothes many Sierra Madre women had forgotten what an evening gown, worn hair-do and earrings could do for them. Many sincere compliments were exchanged at the Wistaria Vine Gardens Thursday night when gathered for the installation of the local Legion post and the Auxiliary. "I hardly know you, you look so lovely," "What did you do to yourself, you look so different!" were common expressions. Evening clothes do have an added charm after the informality of summer. The free and breezy manner that goes with cottons is replaced by the sophistication of silks. A blackbird with his mouth open, almost gasping for breath, or more likely, water, walked along the hot pavement seemingly oblivious of passersby. Where do parched throated birds find water during the heat of midday? Someplace in the high Sierras Gordon McMillan is enjoying the second week of his vacation. He will be back in the office at the city hall Tuesday and very likely will have some grand tales to tell about his trip. About the "big ones" that got away. Now that their Mattson difficulties seem out of the way and behind them, you can't convince Canyonites that their section of the city isn't the garden of Eden they believed it to be when they bought their properties up there. The humidity was a bit high. It was a little warmer on Monday. If you remember on Monday Electric fans in The News office were going furiously during the afternoon when Jim Heasley, manager of the Canyon plunge, pumped out of his car and confronted us at the counter to pick up some printing he had ordered. "Great that you got those fans going," he said. "It's almost as cool in here. It's always 10 or 15 degrees cooler up there than it is downtown during the summer."

Albertina Rasch's ballet dancers whose grace and beauty of movement exceeded anything we ever hoped to see, were at the Hollywood Bowl August 16. In a dream-like setting under a ceiling of stars this company of dancers held the audience enthralled. The lighting effects, produced as if by magic, contributed greatly to the beautiful spectacle, as did the Hall Johnson choir. To a Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers generation the sight of a large ballet moving as if one in an outdoor setting gives us a different concept of the art of dancing. . . not that a ballet would fit in so well with an average ballroom but it does give a hint of the type of dancing Eleanor Powell and Ruby Keeler do not cover. . . The elaborately decorated Mexican pottery dishes that can be put into a hot oven, took our fancy at the Rikemans' shop. . . They seemed so fragile and much too delicate to stand such treatment, but their appearance is deceptive. . . They travel well, Mr. Rikeman tells us, and he should know because he packed a shipment for Europe. . .

We are looking forward to examining the old books which Dunnings' Bookshop just received. Included in the group are some eighteenth century travel books. It would be interesting to know how the citizens of the 21st century will take our present day travel books, especially those which are bound to be written on recent air flights. . . Local stores tell us that many Sierra Madreans do not patronize the hometown shops and stores. Why not a "Buy at Home Week" to stimulate sales and increase business? Standard brands in merchandise are available at our stores, and a bit of browsing around will uncover many articles that would be snatched up in a minute if they were placed on Los Angeles counters. . . The next time you need something for the house or for yourself, don't put off buying it until you make a trip into Los Angeles. Look for it first in Sierra Madre. . .

Wilson Hi Students Called To Enroll; Meet September 10

All Pasadena junior high, high schools, and junior college will open Monday, September 12, enrollments are now being received. Young Sierra Madreans who plan to enter high school or junior college are urged to register now. A. M. Brown, principal of Woodrow Wilson Jr. High school, states that all students who contemplate entrance in that school but have not already registered, do so as quickly as possible. Enrollment may be made any afternoon now. Also of importance to local youngsters is the announcement by Mr. Brown that on Saturday, September 10, at 10 o'clock there will be a meeting of all students who are new to the school this year.

'La Boheme' To Ring Down Curtain At Hollywood Bowl

Winding up the 17th festival season of Symphonies under the Stars with a post-season event, Hollywood Bowl will offer the beautiful and highly emotional Puccini grand opera "La Boheme" Wednesday night, September 7.

Proceeds from the opera will be used for the Philharmonic Orchestra Continuance Fund. Since it is an after-season production, season ticket coupons will not be acceptable.

Pietro Cimlini, veteran conductor, will wield the baton for this outstanding performance, and Armando Agnini, stage and technical director for opera productions in the Bowl in this and past seasons, will be in charge of staging.

BROKEN ARM MAKES AN AUTO LAUNDRY PATRON

Next time Roy Edwards' car needs washing he will probably send it to the auto laundry. His last washing job cost him a broken arm. Busily washing his car he stepped off the back bumper into a bucket of water and was upset, since when he has been carrying the injured arm in a sling. It is coming along fine, Mr. Edwards reports, but he isn't so sure that economy always pays.

GLEN GRAY WILL HEAD BRILLIANT FESTEJO MODERNO AT COUNTY FAIR

A gorgeous spectacle presented on a more lavish scale than anything of the kind ever before attempted at the big exposition, Festejo Moderno, or modern festival, will be the entrancing attraction before the grandstand during the last eight nights of Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona Sept. 16 through Oct. 2. Headlining a colorful extravaganza. Above are a few of the headline attractions assembled for the event. Top row, left to right: The Biltmorettes, acrobatic tumblers; Glen Gray, leader of noted Casa Loma; Radio Singers from Al Pierce's gang; Con Colleano, greatest wire walker of all time; Bottom row: Olympic Trio, daring pedestal skaters; Hudson Palomar Metzger dancing girls.

Fishes All Day And Sits Up All Night To Shoo Bears Away

"It was no rest cure," said R. C. Lewis, president of the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce on his return from a two weeks vacation in the high Sierra at Mineral King, Kern Canyon and Giant Forest in the Sequoia region. Accompanied by Charles Malcom and Gerald Secord of Long Beach, Mr. Lewis drove about 275 miles to the pack station where the car was left behind, provisions purchased, packed on mules, and the three together with a guide, set out on horseback for the forest region. They caught some good messes of trout up in the mountains and saw plenty of deer, bears, grouse and a mountain lion. Mr. Lewis figured they traveled about 150 miles on horseback. Mountain tales are always exciting but Mr. Lewis, on his next trip, will probably figure out some way to carry the necessary chocolate and nuts without sitting up half the night to see that the bears do not make off with camp delicacies—and necessities. This time the bears won—Mr. Lewis got the chocolate and Mr. Lewis lost a lot of sleep, sitting up nights shooting the bears away from camp. One bruin lugged his saddle off a mile or two to get several chocolate bars out of the saddle pocket.

See The Postmaster If You Can't Find Your Door Key

Postmaster Calkin opines that a lot of Sierra Madreans are having trouble getting into their homes these days, or they're very forward-looking and have provided themselves with more than one front door key. He has a large assortment of keys that have been dropped or left on the floor of the postoffice lobby or left on the writing desks. If your key is missing you'll probably find it among the collection awaiting claimants. "Strange," said the postmaster, "that about this time every year we find a surprising number of keys. Why people are more careless with the all important key at this particular season is beyond me—I haven't figured it out. In midwinter we generally have a large assortment of left hand gloves. I haven't taken the time to figure that out either—why people are more careless about and lose more left than right hand gloves."

TRIP TO SUSANVILLE THRILLS PEGLER

City Treasurer Carl Pegler has just returned from an eventful motor trip to Susanville, home of the nation's largest saw mill and lumber yard. He accompanied other members of the Sierra Madre-Lamanda Park Citrus Ass'n on an inspection of the plant of the subsidiary company of the Fruit Growers Exchange that manufactures boxes for the state's citrus crop. "It's sure a grand ride to Susanville, easily made in 11 hours driving time," said Pegler, "and what beautiful and interesting country when you get there. It's thrilling. There is an abundance of water this year. The streams are all filled and the country is lush and wonderful. I learned from the natives up there that 'Dad' Steinberger sent his young manhood in the community. It's an old town, as California cities go, settled in the early 50's."

NEARLY 200 WRITERS GATHER HERE FOR CONFERENCE

From Santa Barbara, Carmel, Hollywood, Hondo, Riverside and many nearer cities almost two hundred scenarists, dramatists, feature writers, poets, authors of radio scripts and other authors gathered in Sierra Madre Saturday and enthusiastically discussed their problems and each other's work from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m.

The occasion was the first Southwest Writers' Conference on literary success conceived and chairmanned by Lucia Trent and Ralph Cheyne aided by Mrs. Al Myers and a large committee. At the literary luncheon, authors' supper, regular sessions and clinic at the Wistaria Vine Gardens the many distinguished speakers stressed the richness of opportunities for those who have talent and learn technique. A resolution was unanimously passed urging all authors to join and promote adult creative writing classes.

The majesty of language and the value of poetry writing as a training in honesty, sympathy and other character traits were emphasized by Prof. Homer C. House in an eloquent address. The frequency of drastic changes in editorial requirements and public preferences was stressed by many speakers, who saw therein good reason for conferences and classes. Harold Carew showed wittily how judgments change, idols crash and many of those whom we most honor were paid little honor or cash in their own day. As there's no knowing whom tomorrow will call great, more honor should be paid all sincere living authors.

Said City Council reserves the right to reject any or all bids. By Order of the City Council of the City of Sierra Madre.
WAVERLY E. PRATT

Miss Ann Morgan, of U.C.L.A., urged that authors learn screen requirements. In her stimulating supper speech she revealed how strong is the growth of adult education and paid a tribute to the Cheyneys, as had Dr. House. Speakers besides those mentioned included Miss Ella Leora Holderman, Miss Mabel A. Stanford, Miss Eva Jernigan, Mrs. Nina Willis Walter, editor of "Nuggets," Nouraddin Addis and Arden Rockwood, who delivered the invocation.

PLAZA HOME CHILDREN ENJOY BEACH OUTING

Forty young people of the Congregational Church enjoyed Wednesday at Mar Casa, beach house of the Pasadena Presbyterian Church on Balboa Island. The occasion was an outing planned for the boys and girls of the Plaza Home which was to include others who have been regular attendants of the Wednesday morning club.

A delightful day was spent swimming and playing on the sand. The trip was made possible through the friends who provided transportation: E. W. Anderson driving the station car from the Wistaria Vine Gardens; Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Hartman, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Corlett, Mrs. Anna Bacon, Miss Margaret Brock, Mrs. Pearson and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kinneer.

Says England Encouraged Dictators

Kiwanians Also Told Weakness of United States Military Forces

America's present military weakness is the lack of trained leaders, Col. H. B. Hersey told the Kiwanis club at its Tuesday meeting while discussing world events and rumblings of war which are daily growing in intensity. Military preparedness on land, sea, and air is imperative with the deplorable state of world affairs now existing, Col. Hersey said.

Placing much responsibility for the present threatening condition on Mussolini and England, he stated, "Had England fought Italy's invasion of Ethiopia, Hitler would not have gone into Austria and Japan would not have invaded China."

Col. Hersey referred to a statement made in a recent book to the effect that if England had threatened him, he would have withdrawn his armies from Ethiopia. As a result of England's failure to take a strong stand in that situation, he said, Germany is emboldened and determined to inpossessions that were taken from her in the treaty of Versailles.

7th Grade Studies Are Agreed On advise the present city council that I informed the prior city council that the so-called 'zoning ordinance' of the City of Sierra Madre was invalid, primarily for the reason that same was an initiative measure passed without observance of any of the provisions of the then so-called 'Zoning Act of 1917' wherein it was provided that before said ordinance was enacted, certain public hearings etc. thereon must be held."

Zoning Map Revised To Meet Protests

tions for other than single family dwellings.

As tentatively agreed upon, pending public hearings to be held later, 954 acres or 84.38 per cent of the city's area is restricted to R-1 or single family residence purposes, while 89.9 acres or 7.95 per cent is intended for duplex dwellings. The R-3 or multiple residence area is now 60.2 acres or 5.32 per cent of the city's total area. The commercial district zoned for business houses comprises 20.2 acres or 1.78 per cent of the area and the industrial district consists of 6.4 acres or 0.57 per cent.

The Commission is now working on the verbiage of the zoning ordinance which it expects to be able to submit to the city council about October 1. It is now consulting maps prepared by the city engineering department showing existing setback lines and as yet no tentative agreement has been reached on a uniform setback. Following an agreement on this and other details the commission will hold a public hearing prior to submitting its draft of an ordinance to the council. Before action is taken by the council it also will hold a public hearing.

St. Rita's Ball Team Ends Season As Champion Again

St. Rita's boys baseball team came out on top for the second year in the Kiwanis boys league. The season closed Wednesday night and the young players are ready to resume their studies. Between 40 and 45 boys participated in the games this year. St. Rita's team was managed by Thorne Mathis; Congos by Waverly Pratt; V.F.W.s by Frank Spencer, and the Legion by John O'Grady.

As a reward the winning team may be given a dinner, with prizes, or a trip to Wrigley field. Managers of the teams are working on arrangements.

Lizzie's Trail Inn Reopens As Owner Regains Health

Local people who are entertaining out-of-town guests or who are searching for a meal that is out of the ordinary will be glad to know that Lizzie's Trail Inn, located at 165 East Mira Monte avenue, at the foot of Mt. Wilson Trail, was re-opened yesterday. Many residents have driven up to Lizzie's Trail Inn for a famed chicken or ravioli dinner the past month only to be disappointed because of the proprietress' illness. After 14 years of operation, with only one month closing, Lizzie's Trail Inn has a record to be proud of and invites old patrons and new customers to stop in and enjoy a delicious dinner. The fame of Lizzie's fried chicken and raviolis has been spread all over California by her patrons.

BOB BABBITT IS BACK WITH BIG FISH STORY

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Babbitt and family are back from a ten-day vacation and fishing trip in Northern California and Nevada. While away they visited Santa Cruz, Yosemite, San Francisco, where they enjoyed seeing the newly constructed Treasure Island; Reno, and the Glacier Lakes in the High Sierra where they were rewarded by a fine catch of trout, one measuring eighteen inches.

Home In Lowell Ave. Is Purchased By Detroit Family

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Moon, formerly of Detroit, Mich., have purchased the lovely new modified Monterey type home at 25 East Lowell avenue and will occupy it about September 15. The dwelling was designed and built by W. B. Durham, well known local designer and contractor who has built and sold more than a dozen homes here during the last year, including the one that he constructed for his own use.

The Moons have been looking around for a home in the year that they have been in California and Sierra Madre appealed most strongly to them as a residential community. The property on which their new home is located is a part of the famed Bonita Vista ranch, considered one of the finest locations in the San Gabriel Valley.

Mrs. Frances Yeakley, mother of Mrs. Moon, who has been visiting the family here, left last week for her home in Detroit.

MORE NEWCOMERS ARE WELCOMED TO CITY

The following newcomers have arrived in Sierra Madre to establish residence here: Richard Wilson, 105 South Lima street; Mrs. Leah Deoren, 483 Sturevant Dr.; Juan Velasquez, 199 Grove street; Howard Z. Morning, 619 West Alegria avenue; R. R. Dunn, 58 West Carter avenue. William Cronin has moved to 26 South Baldwin.

DIVERSIFIED BILL AT ARCADIA THEATRE

The Arcadia Theatre is now showing "Love Finds Andy Hardy" with Mickey Rooney and Lewis Stone. On the same bill is "My Bill" with Kay Francis. "White Banners" with Claude Rains will be shown at the same theatre, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, together with "Cowboy from Brooklyn" starring Pat O'Brien, Dick Powell and Priscilla Lane.

Church Leaders To Hold Retreat In The Mountains

The leaders and officers of the Congregational Church will hold a weekend retreat at the Twycross cabin in the San Bernardino mountains September 9 to 11. The young people will go and remain over the two nights while the adults will arrive in time for breakfast Saturday morning and be in conference during the day.

Purpose of this outing is to plan the work of the church for the coming year and to correlate all the activities in a unified program. The program is following the suggestions worked out a number of weeks ago by Mr. Pritchard and Mr. Kinneare and in individual conferences with leaders of the various activities.

4-H CLUB DELEGATES HAVE A REAL TRIP

A delegate to the State 4-H convention held at the Davis Experiment Station near Sacramento, John Coit left Sierra Madre Wednesday evening, one of a group of three boys from the Woodrow Wilson club, chosen to attend the meeting. Norman Jensen and Loren Pratt were unable to be present.

Interesting sight seeing trips are in store for the boys. They will attend the State fair at Sacramento, visit San Francisco and cross the famed new bridges.

Do You Operate Under a Fictitious Firm Name?

If so, have you complied with the requirements of Section 2466 of the Civil Code, which says: "Every person and every partnership transacting business . . . under a fictitious firm name must file . . . a certificate stating the name in full and the place of residence of such person and the members of such partnership?"

Such certificate must be published once a week for four consecutive weeks.

If you have neglected this procedure, do you realize that the name of your firm is not protected, and that you are not entitled to maintain suits for collection, or other purposes in the courts of the State of California?

Take care of this important matter NOW by having the Sierra Madre News publish certificate.

Consult your attorney or The News at once for further information.

Shirley Temple Frocks

$1.95

Your small daughter may not have Shirley's curls and dimples, but she can pretend she's "Little Miss Broadway" herself, in one of these new frocks! She'll love them for their fine fabrics, and bright coloring . . . and you'll second her choice because they're thoughtfully priced, and take to repeated tubbings. Look for the Shirley Temple photographic tag and Cinderella Coach label in each frock.

"LITTLE MISS BROADWAY": Fine quality Ribtone, lavishly appliqued, zip front. Smart Fall shades. SHIRLEY TEMPLE style. Sizes 3 to 12.
